

5th Grade Summer 2017 Assignments

Dear Incoming Fifth Graders,

As you enjoy your summer and prepare for fifth grade, I am going to ask you to read one book as a summer reading assignment. Please read “The View from Saturday” by: E.L. Konigsburg - (Simon and Schuster, 1996) and be prepared to discuss the book our first week back to school. You will have a related writing assignment to complete when you return to school

Naturally, I encourage you to read as often as you can during the summer. Read a variety of genres, including non-fiction!

Please practice your multiplication skills this summer. You will feel so much more prepared if you have memorized all your math facts! Fifth grade uses multiplication in almost every chapter of math!

Make sure you get plenty of exercise and rest! Most importantly, have a safe summer! I look forward to teaching you in fifth grade!

Sincerely,

Mrs. Boland
